"There is but one kind of love, but there are a thousand different kinds of it."

"If a woman will rub virtue in her heart, it will rub her cheeks with blushes."

"It is less pain to learn in youth than to be ignorant in old age."

"Dabbler" is becoming a philosopher. He can't care for victuals—all his pike is enough to eat."

"The man who ate his dinner with the fork of a river has been endeavoring to open a mumps."

"A lawyer asked a Dutchman in court what car marks a pig had that was in dispute. 'Well, he has no car marks except a little short tail,' was the reply."

"Why may a poor, wandering about with a brood of young pigs, be considered a learned animal? Because he takes her litter a four with her."

"Jack, your wife is not so pensive as she used to be." "No, she has lost that off, and turned ex-pensive."

"I presume you won't charge anything for remembering me," said a one-legged sailor to a cork leg man's factor."

"Father, I want you to buy me a gun." "A gun, Willie! What are you going to do with a gun?" "Oh, I'm going to fight 'Ommy Day.' He says I like him better than him she does me."

"An Irish lover remarked that it was a great pleasure to be alone, especially when you had your sweetheart with you."

"It matters not how much knowledge a man may have, if he fails to put it to good use, his education is no better than that of the ignorant."

"A young lady going into a barrack-room at Fort St. George, saw an officer toasting a slice of bread on the point of his sword; on which she exclaimed, 'I think, sir, you have got the staff of life on the point of death.'"

"Interjection of Women."—Sir S. Romilly said, "There is nothing by which I have through life profited more than by the just observations, the good opinions, and the timely and gentle encouragement of amiable and sensible women."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Henrietta, "I'm going to the post office again to be looked out of countenance by all those men on the corner. I'm to stop! What can I do, Sarah Jane, to stop those men's eyes at me as I go in the face?" "Show I do," replied Sarah Jane, with a look, "show your ankle!"

"A lady thus addressed her servant in the presence of a fashionable party:—"Mary, relieve that burning luminary of the superincumbent dress that bears upon it." "Ma'am," said Mary, confused at her mistress could say "burning," "the lady, 'from that luminous body the superincumbent weight of consumed carbon.'" "Ma'am!" repeated Mary. In haste replied the lady, "Snuff the candle you please, you."

"Mrs. Partington says, 'I haven't any desire to live longer than the breath remains in my body, if it isn't more than eighty years. I wouldn't wish to be a centurian; and the idea of surviving one's factories always gives me a disagreeable consciousness. But whatever it is, he will be, and there is no knowing a thing will take place till it expires.'"

"What are you writing there my boy?" asked a food parent the other day of his hopeful son, a slave of ten years.

"My competition, this."

"What is the subject?"

"International law," replied the youthful Grogan. "But really I should be unable to concentrate my ideas and give them relation, if I am constantly interrupted in this manner by irrelevant inquiries."

"A young fellow riding down a steep hill, and fearing that at the foot it was boggy, called out to a clown who was dithering, and asked him if it was hard at the bottom."

"Ay, ay, the countryman, it is hard enough, I'll warrant you." But in half a dozen steps the horse tumbled up to the saddle girth, which made the young gallant curse and swear.

"Why, you rascal," said he to the ditherer, "didn't you tell me it was hard at the bottom?" "Ay," replied the other, "but you are not half way to the bottom yet."

"Medical."—"Doctor," said an old lady the other day to her family physician, "kin you tell me how some folks is born dumb?" "Why, hem! why, certainly, madam," replied the doctor; "it is owing to the fact that they came into the world without the power of speech."

"Is me?" remarked the old lady, "now just, see what it is to have a physical education. I've asked my old man nor over a hundred times that he was dumb, and he said, 'Well, I'm glad I asked you, for I never should have died satisfied without knowing it.'"

"An Illustration of Law."

A good story was told in this city this morning which serves to illustrate that possession is nine points of law. A. is a rather sharp lawyer, and resides next door to B. The houses A. and B. occupy are similar in appearance, and as they adjoin, are easily mistaken by a comparative stranger. B. being out of coal, walks to the coal market, purchases a load for $3 30, and sends it home. "The man of whom he purchased mistakes the residence of A. for that of B. and dumps the coal in A.'s yard. The lawyer's man sees the coal in the yard, and gets which-barrow (and shove) and puts it into the cellar. B. is in a peck of trouble that his coal does not come, and goes out to find the man of whom he bought it."

"See here, my country friend, I bought a load of coal of you, and you have not delivered it," says B., as soon as he had found the culprit.

"You bought the load and paid for it, and I delivered it," said the coal dealer.

Here the thought struck B. that he saw coal in his neighbor's (the lawyer's) yard, and immediately directed the mystery. He starts for the lawyer's office, and finding him in, thus accosted him:

"Mr. A., suppose you would buy a load of coal and the man should put it in the wrong yard, what would you require of the man who appropriated the coal?"

"Well, sir," said the lawyer, "I should require the man to return the coal or pay the amount I paid for the load."

"Very well," said Mr. B., "just give me $3 30, and you can send my load of coal in your cellar. The lawyer gently drew $30s from his pocket and handed it to B.

"What does this mean, Mr. A., you owe me $3 30," said the astonished B.

"Not at all," said the lawyer, "I charge three dollars for my advice."—Poria Un-

DR. AMOS & SON,
(Corner of Main and Quay Sts. Buffalo, N. Y.)

ARE the only Physicians in the State who are members of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, may be consulted from 8 o'clock in the morning, until 9 at night, in every state and symptom of Disease.

This treaty they adopt is the result of upwards of thirty years' extensive and successful practice in London.

A Most Scientific Invention.

An instrument for the cure of Gonitil Debility, or Neurasthenic Emissions, more properly known as "Spermatorrhoea," &c., can be permanently cured in from fifteen days to two months by the use of this instrument, when used conjointly with medicines.

Young Men take Particular Notice.

DR. AMOS & SON take pleasure in announcing that they have invented a most important instrument for the cure of the above diseases. It has been subjected to a test by the most eminent physicians in London, Paris, Philadelphia, and New York; it has been declared the only safe and certain remedy for the cure of Seminal Weakness, or any disease of the genital organs, caused by the secret habits of youth.

Prof. Criswold's CURRICULIAN & HAIR INVIGORATOR

THE only Preparation ever invented that will Effectually Restore, and promote the Growth of the Hair. The discovery was accidentally made by using it on his own head, to cure a nervous pain, to which he had been subject for years, and in consequence of which he lost most of his hair. He not only found himself cured of the painful disease, but his agreeable surprise, his hair began to grow again, being now thick, glossy, and soft, and about two feet long, hanging in beautiful curls about his shoulders. A living testimony of the newly discovered remedy. This is also a certain remedy for Pimples and Blotches on the Face.

He would invite the attention of the Public to the following Certificates:—

From Mr. Joseph B. Wilson, 4th Con. of Whitechurch, June 8, 1858.

Friend Criswold,—Having tried the Curriculian and Hair Invigorator, I do believe it to be very beneficial to the head and hair, as printed on the bottle. When I commenced using it, my hair seemed very loose, and came out with a pin; but when I had applied it a few times, I found it quite fast, and I also believed it to be very good for the hair.
